KTL SOP/POP Distribution 10

KTL's SOP/POP Distribution enables you to add a more flexible account structure to the Dynamics GP sales order processing system. Currently sales order processing allows you to default the posting account from the item card, customer card or default posting account. This software expands on that and allows the user to default the segment of the account from the item card, customer card, location, posting setup, or a static value.

Define the source for your segment

SOP/POP Distribution allows you to define the source for each segment. See page two for a full list.

Ordering Information

KTL SOP/POP Distribution is licensed per computer, for $1995. This price includes the first year of enhancement, which is calculated from 15% of the list price for each year after the initial purchase date.

Enhancements give you support from KTL Solutions and also allows you to receive updates to the software.

SOP Segments

The posting definition allows you to define the source for each segment for SOP. You have the following options:

- Item: pulls the segment from the account assigned to the item
- Customer: pulls the segment from the account assigned to the customer
- Location: pulls the segment from the segment assigned to the warehouse location.
- Posting: pulls the segment from the default posting account
- Static: allows you to define a static value for the segment
- Payment Terms: pulls the segment from the payment terms
- Salesperson: pulls the segment from the salesperson

POP Segments

You will have the option to define the source for each of the segments below, which can be found in the menu under POP Distributions:

- Item: pulls the segment from the account assigned to the item
- Vendor: pulls the segment from the account assigned to the vendor
- Location: pulls the segment from the segment assigned to the warehouse location.
- Posting: pulls the segment from the default posting account
- Static: allows you to define a static value for the segment
- Payment Terms: pulls the segment from the payment terms
